

The Quality Of Man:

In the subreddit “Am I the Asshole” (AITA), you can post the stories of your small and big quarrels and then have them rated whether you are the asshole of the situation or not. An asshole gets the verdict “You are the Asshole” (YTA), the innocent one gets the verdict “Not the Asshole” (NTA). I have downloaded tens of thousands of posts from nearly a decade and formed two data sets from them: Assholes and no assholes. I then trained an AI on each of the two binaries. Afterwards I let the two AIs write several stories for me. In the following stories you can read on the backside if the story was written by the asshole AI or by the no-asshole AI. To stay consistent in the production of the magazine I let the order of the stories decide by a random algorithm.

ASSHOLES:

- AITA for throwing away my entire lifes worth of gymnastics training that I cant quit?: 5
- AITA for not wanting to hang out with the new roommate?: 7
- AITA for being angry that my sister sleeps in the same bed as her mom?: 9
- AITA for telling my nieces their dad didn't show up to our family Christmas Eve dinner?: 11
- AITA for going back to work?: 13
- AITA for confronting my husband about a fake silicone penis he wears?: 15
- AITA for not giving my son's college fund to my daughter?: 17
- AITA for going back to work?: 19
- AITA for not wanting my best friend to wear her wedding ring.: 21
- AITA for calling the cops on my wife?: 23
- AITA for asking my girlfriend to stop talking about her period because it's uncomfortable her period": 25
- AITA for not letting my girlfriend wear a shirt in the house so that she's comfortable?: 27
- AITA for not letting my girlfriend borrow my lightning charging cable and not her guests?: 29

AITA for throwing away my entire lifes worth of gymnastics training that I cant quit?:

My parents gymnastics moved 150 miles away from me. I was coming home from work when I reached out to them about gymnastics. I had been told to quit the practice that was now not coming back. They said I would be ruining their plans so I can get all my motivation TWICE competitions. I replied that they weren't welcome there.

Since then, all of their friends have been tutbing at me to lose more money than I am capable of making money. Last I checked, one of them refused to drop me because of past problems. I replied that I didn't want to be back at least partially as it was when I signed up for this role which was now past 5 years. I told the truth to my parents that I was not planing all this and that the money I signed over was from me, that they knew I would quit this year. I did not signed up for this role which they should be apolog to but I just did not sign up for it myself.

The people in me are all really huge sc fans that I can always group up on. AITA?

Edit: I just spoke directly to the whole committee who was through some of the work the night before the work happening. I was told no more why this has been such a problem, so I would just like to think everyone who got me did at least make this misunderstanding.

The majority are all supporting me on any other thing, but the few people who bully me and I'm not actual staff.

What I'm most concerned about is that this girl will most likely come in when she realizes she can't take her job. She must have been hired yesterday.

AITA for not wanting to hang out with the new roommate?:

So I (26F) live with my boyfriend (22M) and I live together. Up until last week, when I was living alone, he started to get very drunk. He is a bit lowkey, but he did his part before I started to notice that I was lowkey, and he did come to stay home. He didn't say anything after I told him it was fine, but I thought it was a good thing to do. When I got home from work, I saw that his dog had chewed on him a couple times. He was a bit lowkey, but he seemed a bit lowkey, so he did the thing to me first.

I thought it was weird, because it was a weekday night, and then I decided that I should go to the house first. I tried to text him after that, but he had avoided answering and I thought it was okay, so I went.

After I did the housework, I thought that he had more fun than I did, but I had to tell him that he had been dropping hints that he had been dropping hints that he had chewed on him a couple times. He had a big effing reaction, and I thought it was just weird that he had anything to update. I did the second one last night, and the next day, he threw his shit on the counter and chewed on the counter.

I couldn't believe that what I did had been so surreal, like that. I couldn't believe it. I couldn't think of what I had to say. I feel like I should have just taken my boyfriend to the house first, but I feel like it's not right that he has to drop hints like that.

AITA for not wanting to hang out soon? I feel like he should be able to drop hints that he had been coming into the house, and that he had no plans of doing it before.

AITA for being angry that my sister sleeps in the same bed as her mom?:

I'm not going to tell anyone, but I'm going to do better. My sister has been staying with her parents for the past week, she's been out of the house a couple of times, I've mentioned that the atmosphere (she doesn't drive, its car raining)place in the same bed as her mom, and she says that her mom has to find out, because of the cats CTHIS LERAPYLY her sister is in the delivery room, and doesn't want to do something.

I've brought up this with her mother earlier, saying that it's not my business how she stays in the same bed as her mom, that I'm her only solace, and I don't even want to give her a chance to leave.

I don't wan her to leave, because it's my sister's birthday present, even if I can tell you that it's my birthday. I just want to know what her mom does for me, because I feel like she's not her mom to my sister and my sister (who is my sister-figure out) refuses to give me more information. She got angry at me and told me that she thinks I should get my response, which made me even more frustrated. I drove home and found out that she went out of her way to help her with things that stress her out way more than she did.

I don't belong to her rent, and I'm sure in my head if I do this, but I know that the phone call made me feel so douchy, and I shouldn't have left her out of a place to go to that. So, Reddit, AITA for getting angry of my sister for not like a situation that causes more trouble and more empathy of other people?

AITA for telling my nieces their dad didn't show up to our family Christmas Eve dinner?:

So my brother Ryan's wife just turned 6 months pregnant. I've talked to my mom over and over about this guy and he just shrugs whenever I'm there and very tired of it. He did a stupid sad brothers 3 years ago.

I just turned 22 and live in a 12+ community. I grew up in a single parents house and worked a great deal in software and law.

I got a job at a big law firm a could years ago. About 12 years ago Ryan was promoted wide. He put almost no effort into it, almost only on command. I 1-2 years ago he got a job. He also didn't put much effort into it, and it was his job to be nice to our customers.

2 years ago I was promoted wide with him. He pulled me down and I found out about his situation that day, which I found out is pretty much what I wanted to do. I meeting every single day since I posted on social media right after 9/11, and finally he noticed.

To put it llightly, I pulled Ryan aside and told him that I wouldn't be able to do okay, and that he has a very stubborn, fair job and did well on command. He responded well to what I did.

However, I have always felt insulted and preferred D Ryan is black. I don't know if IATA or not, though my friends and family are all other people, so I have to deal with different people in my private life. I have generally never regretted Ryan's behaviour, although I have never considered him cheating other people or breaking up with him. He has apologized twice for being abusive, and acknowledged that he is loyal and smart enough to earn fair custody of me, which I feel is unfair him to lie.

However, I feel extremely insulted and grossly taken advantage of a situation that was just so wrong.

AITA?

AITA for going back to work?:

I (20M) work for a small commercial real estate firm a could years ago. Since I was a kid, I got a job making ~$125k and a digging small commercial real estate firm a could years ago.

My dad and MIL were not on good terms, I know how hard it must be, but my dad and SIL (33) have been both allowed to pursue their "lavish" lifestyle. They have been doing well in school, getting jobs, going to the same bar, and now even at home because a lot of my closest friends know themselves.

My worry is that the money I get will just pretty much come to me and my family don't want to pay for it, attend the same bills as my husband did.

My husband and I have been married for 7 years, and have three kids together. I only get my hair checked for a week, and I have to do training at a field in a Uni laboratory, where I am technically able to get a cross on my laptop. He needs the money. I got tired of it so I took it for 2 weeks, took again, and my dad put me in better shape. I am a better kid than my brother and SIL seemed weren't training as a girl.

AITA for going back to work?

YTA

1
YTA

AITA for confronting my husband about a fake silicone penis he wears?:

So there's this sex toy site we use to buy toys from sometimes which we use one of our joint accounts to pay for. The site has a unique name it appears as on bills mainly for discretion. My husband was sorting out his own personal bills and out of plain curiosity and interest I just looked at a list and noticed that site seemed 3/4 inside the list. It seemed like it was a unique name with a seemingly silly child. He spoke to me like an idiot, I'll admit, but say it has a message box thrown around a few times that others have also done stuff similar to site for other situations. So I did a few snooping around the house looking for what it could be and follows a few examples. I found a silicone limp penis (almost like a dildo but limp). I didn't realize it was a coincidence - I just looked at a link and noticed that site seemed 3/4 anyway.

It seemed that I confronted him about it, which was almost a week ago. He was embarrassed, but I didn't feel the need to connect a cat with someone who has loved children.

AITA for not trusting my husband?

AITA for not giving my son's college fund to my daughter?:

1
YTA

My wife is a single mom. Our daughter is 8, my son is a sophomore. We're both in college. She wants to go to college. I just have enough to buy enough for us. I bought her a car, a car under 75k miles. This car is only 5 years old, it was under 75M. We've been together for 5 years. We've not gone on and 5 months into the marriage my daughter asked me if she can come get her grades. I told her my offer is coming in (a few weeks ago) and have agreed to be closer to my wife's college fund than my daughter stole. I paid for her driving lessons (such as she'd be allowed to drive until she finds a job) and also bought her car. I have a service dog that my son was able to drive. It was her dream to travel, and in the end I gave her an allowance to supplement her studies. This was just "my daughter" that I've been paying her car insurance for 5 years now. No one bothered to take any responsibility at all. I tried to talk to my wife about it when she needed it, but she told me that her car insurance won't be anywhere near her house again.

I wanted her to have it at her house again.

I believe that when we have the money to travel and we do, the insurance will be split 50/50. So, AITA?

Edit: I've spoken to my daughter and she told me that her insurance won't be split because she doesn't need insurance. I offered to come in, she refused and said that she'd rather not come at all. So, AITA here?

Edit2: I've explained to her that we will only ever be on a payment insurance as long as we get our finances paid. She said she'd have to go into the general fund from savings. Sucks.

UPDATE: I gave her the money for awhile, and she said that the money will go into her savings now. She said that's not gonna happen. She said that's not gonna happen.

AITA for going back to work?:

I (20M) work for a small commercial real estate firm a could years ago. Since I was a kid, I got a job making ~$125k and a digging small commercial real estate firm a could years ago.

My dad and MIL were not on good terms, I know how hard it must be, but my dad and SIL (33) have been both allowed to pursue their “lavish” lifestyle. They have been doing well in school, getting jobs, going to the same bar, and now even at home because a lot of my closest friends know themselves.

My worry is that the money I get will just pretty much come to me and my family don't want to pay for it, attend the same bills as my husband did.

My husband and I have been married for 7 years, and have three kids together. I only get my hair checked for a week, and I have to do training at a field in a Uni laboratory, where I am technically able to get a cross on my laptop. He needs the money. I got tired of it so I took it for 2 weeks, took again, and my dad put me in better shape. I am a better kid than my brother and SIL seemed weren't training as a girl.

AITA for going back to work?

AITA for not wanting my best friend to wear her wedding ring.:

My best friend and I (both 23M) recently got engaged and she is getting married next year.

I have a best friend who is close to my best friend who is 22M (also 23M).

I love my best friend very much and I'm in a moment of need with her. I am also a close friend of another person who passed away 2 months after my daughter was born and due to our culture. I don't like her ring and I don't know how to ring him.

I have a ring that is a little longer than my finger other than my ring. I do not like him very much. I don't know what he can and neither does my ring, but my best friend is a 23 year old dude and it would be really comfortable for me to have him wear that ring.

I just don't want him wearing that ring and it would look really bad for me to have him wearing that ring. I'm not even sure what he would wear but I don't think it would look like what my friend would wear.

I do feel bad for my ring and for her it would look just like ring that ring.

AITA for not wanting him wearing it?

AITA for calling the cops on my wife?:

My wife and I were married for 5 years when we got pregnant. My wife had a daughter, we were planning to have more kid-ups but when she turned 18 she switched to a single parent. I didn't even want her to live with us. So my wife and I decided we would wait until after she was 18 months pregnant for us to get married. I'm just now getting married-in-law calls from her friends-you-me-my-country. They are calling to complain about my wife's new baby. I'm angry that they're married and that they're about to be adopted out of the country due to my wife's new baby. AITA?

AITA for asking my girlfriend to stop talking about her period because it's uncomfortable her period":

Throwaway for obvious reasons

So I've been dating my girlfriend for about two months and I guess today she got her period. She mentioned it slightly and said that it would defeat her love. She also mentioned that the period in the future would always be so heartbreaking because of the limited period that it's caused by her. I let her know that it's not her body but her personality is matter as if the information that comes to this picture, and she's also beautiful as she is.

At one point in the night she got super defensive and said that she wants me to stop bringing her baby, that she didn't want to get into it and that her having a period is way too much information. I told her that and said that I thought her being under 19 as soon as she got pregnant was really bliss, how she can shower and feel safe, and whatnot.

The next day kind of day I told her that I'm not going to stop caring about her baby.

AITA for not letting my girlfriend wear a shirt in the house so that she's comfortable?:

My girlfriend and I recently got into a fight and she told me she wasn't wearing a shirt. I told her that it was just her and I broke down because I don't think she's got right for how we just got through this fight. She said that she had a shirt on she's not even comfortable and that she would be comfortable in it. I told her that it was her body and she needs to wear a shirt that she's comfortable with.

She told me that she didn't care what she wears so she wasn't comfortable with it. We got into an argument. She said that she wanted a shirt on her size so that she would feel comfortable in it. She said that she didn't want a shirt on her size and that she would get comfortable in it.

I said that was dumb logic since her and I broke up. She has a little weird 1/2 acre of underwear that I haven't given her any other clothes to wear. She's also quite big when she tagged me in a Facebook post saying that her clothes were bothering her. I told her that clothes were bothering her. She said that she had clothes on her size that she wasn't comfortable with and that was that.

I told her that clothes were bothering her. She told me to put on a shirt. I told her that I was seriously blown away. I said that was ridiculous. She said that she wouldn't even mention that to me.

She has been talking about how she would just wear clothes that aren't shorts or anything. I told her that I thought that was very mean of me and that I didn't think she needed to ruin that for her. Then she just left.

I'm still seething, I think.

AITA for not letting her wear clothes in my house?

Edit: I'm her mom. I'm not her bio mom. I'm not her bio dad. Nor did she ever imply or infer that. Enjoy your day.

Edit 2: I'm her bio mom. I'm not a "mom" to minors. Nor did she EVER imply or infer that. Just that she's a good person to be around. She's 18F, I'm 16M.

AITA for not letting my girlfriend borrow my lightning charging cable and not her guests?:

My girlfriend (26F) has a spare key. She's recently been on maternity leave for 4ish weeks (she's been doing great, and I'm thankful!).

I should say we live on a spare mattress in our own house. I've tried suggesting she get on at night before, but she says it won't work and she'll be cranky.

I'm not a bad mum she just plays 2 jobs, (I also host her btw.

I feel like I'm the one holding the family back but I'm also not a bad mum. I feel like it's my job to bond with my daughter and I can't stand it. I've tried suggesting she get on at night before, but she says she won't (she's 3, and she's 5).

I feel like I'm the one holding the family back but I feel like it would be deeply inappropriate to do for her to get her own toilet and drink or do something for her.

AITA for not wanting to take her to any other family members?

NTA

